Reading/Digital Reading Month
Celebration 2019

REPORTS

P.N. PANICKER FOUNDATION

19th June is celebrated as READING /DIGITAL READING DAY and from 19th June to 18th July as READING/DIGITAL READING MONTH throughout the country for the past 24 years to inculcate reading habit among children and underprivileged as well as digital technologies as part of building knowledge societies. The day is also important that it is the annual remembrance day of P.N. Panicker, father of library and literacy movement, who converted a simple slogan 'READ AND GROW' into a powerful movement to achieve universalisation of education.

Earlier the celebrations main focus were to inculcate reading habit and thereby fostering book mindedness among the children and under privileged.

From the overwhelming response of the children, young adults and public, the one day celebration was transformed into week-long celebrations and latter month long activities. In 2003 P.N. Panicker Foundation initiated the familiarization of electronic reading through internet enabled reading in the metro cities of the state for the first time in the country.

During the 22nd READING DAY celebrations organized at Kochi on 17th June 2017 at a colourful function, Prime Minister Shri. Narendra Modiji came down to Kerala and inaugurated this much popular celebrations hitherto celebrated in Kerala and few parts of other states and Gulf countries.

Shri. Narendra Modi, Hon'ble Prime Minister of India

Prime Minister directed P.N. Panicker Foundation to celebrate this novel initiative throughout the country and make it as a national people's movement giving emphasis on Digital Reading also with month long activities in all schools, colleges, educational institutions and Panchayats of the country. He further directed the Foundation to reach the message of Reading and Digital Reading so as to reach 300 million population of the country by 2022 when the country celebrates its 75th year of independence. The Prime Minister was magnanimous enough to make it as a national level month long programme, every year from June 19th to 18th July stressing the importance on reading and digital reading for inclusive growth.

Soon after the inauguration, the Prime Minister sitting in the aircraft tweeted the importance of reading and highlighted P.N. Panicker Foundation's gesture of “presenting books instead of bouquet in all public functions” while greeting the VIPS. Latter in his much acclaimed national AIR programme-MANN KI BAAT-in its 33rd episode of 25th June 2017 exhorted the public to “Present a Book instead of Bouquet in all public functions” by emulating the practice of P.N. Panicker Foundation to inculcate reading habit and book mindedness among the masses Subsequent to PM's MANN KI BAAT Programme, Ministry of Home Affairs, Govt. of India had issued directions to all Central & State Government Departments, Institutions, Public Sector Enterprises etc to adopt the practice of P.N. Panicker Foundation of presenting a book instead of bouquet in all public functions organized by the Govt. of India.

Efforts being made to promote reading among youngsters

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

AMRITSAR, JULY 28

In the era of digitisation, efforts are being made in the city to encourage students to form the habit of reading books.

Initiating a campaign, 'Kitaba Da Langar', Deputy DEO (Elementary) Rekha Mahajan has been urging residents to donate books from Classes I to XII in any language to government school libraries.

"The idea behind the campaign is to make people understand the value of books. One can donate their used books to students. Under 'Kitaba Da Langar' campaign, many story books, competitive exam books, English spoken books, novels, literature, books of moral values, books on scientists, personalities and writers are being collected. I have been collecting non-academician books. It is a request to the public, NGOs and social activists to come forward to make this campaign a huge success. They can submit their books to the District Education Office (Elementary)," said Mahajan.

Nazi Puri, who has been donating books in the city, feels that it is important to make efforts for promoting reading.

Puri added, "I am the official book fairy of Amritsar as part of an international book fairy movement. Some youngsters have joined as volunteers in the city. The response has been good. We have continuously dropping books at various places. A chain of readers has been formed. However, efforts are required to make the younger generation fall in love with books."

District Library has also been holding multiple events, seminars and school visits to promote the idea of reading.

District Librarian Prabhjot Kaur said, "We have to understand that reading has to be promoted and made part of lifestyle. If anyone enjoys reading, he or she will never leave it."
